Rewards

Recent studies show that in 2015, 30% of construction workers were Hispanic. Many industries also have a substantial Hispanic or other immigrant workforce. This part of the workforce has the greatest percentage of injuries and the least amount of training.

There are many great safety companies you can choose. We are the only company in South Carolina with a special emphasis on Hispanic workers and a deep understanding of the language and culture, capable to train both in English and Spanish. Since we are also a language service company, we also specialize in OSHA® and safety translation and can provide quality interpreters for most other language requirements.

Most companies invest considerable resources towards safety. For a quarter or a third of your workforce to not benefit is like trashing your money and risking valuable lives.
